About Steven

I have worked in the financial services industry since 1982. My experience has extended across banking, life insurance and corporate superannuation. My desire to provide a more complete service to clients prompted a move into financial planning in 1991.

Since joining RetireInvest in 1996, I have assisted many clients with their savings and retirement plans. In particular, I have provided specialist advice in the areas of superannuation, tax effective investment strategies and Centrelink planning, as well as investment selection, estate planning considerations and risk protection. My extensive knowledge of the Commonwealth and State superannuation schemes have made me a valuable source of advice to those leaving the Public Service.
